

May Service Theme: Revelation

Revelation is classically known to be that which is revealed through a supernatural source, pertaining to human existence. Revelation can also be the receiving of a fact, scientific or personal, not previously known. What is gained and what is lost through revelation? Enjoy exploring the May theme.

Continuous Revelation: Engaging in Life's Planned & Serendipitous

Moments!

Joan Carolyn, CUC Congregational Development staff for BC and Western Regions

Service Co-ordinator: Joan Morris

What does it mean to engage well with life? With a commitment to give concrete expression to what we value, be prepared to act. And then with humility and eyes wide open, be prepared to engage life—from the well-planned event to the ever surprising serendipitous opportunities—continually open to inspiration and re-creation.

Joan has been privileged to pursue studies in World Religions and Cultural Anthropology (B.A.) as well as completing a B. Th. and M. Div. (double major, Theology and Peace Studies). Outside of the classroom, Joan has sought to continue life-long learning—of special note here are training and experience with: Conflict Resolution; Cycles of Violence/Wellness Planning; and Aboriginal Awareness.

May Day Blooming

Rev. Debra Thorne and Casey Thorne-Stainsby

May Day, or Beltane, is traditionally a time to celebrate abundance and growth. In this intergenerational service the whole community will take this opportunity to consider the things we would like to see blooming in ourselves, our relationships and the wider world. We will reflect and share with a Compost Communion ritual, and dance around the Maypole. There will be no RE classes as the children will be participating in the whole service.

Continuous Revelation

Rev. Debra Thorne

Some religions look to books for revelation, some look to prophets, some to stones, and some to numbers. How do these experiences and methods of revelation compare across the religious landscape? How does the Unitarian understanding of revelation distinguish itself and support your being in this world?

The Song of the Winter Wren

Rev. Debra Thorne and Teresa Morton

The Winter Wren returns to precisely the same spot in a wooded acreage on Vancouver Island, for safety & rest. What size was the map of her world? How did she know this was a protected niche? Science would eventually be able to elucidate the size of winter wren's range, but only if we turned our science 'spotlight' on it. And in employing our spotlight we risk losing sight of the whole, of the interconnectedness, of the old knowledge. Perhaps, as our 'scientific progress' proceeds, we are losing as much, or more, indigenous knowledge. What are the risks associated with this erosion of place-based, time-enriched understanding and knowledge?

- Choir sings

Minister's Message

I hope that even if you can't come for the whole week-end you'll venture out to UBC on the May long week-end and take part in one of the free events at the CUC Conference 2016. Or perhaps you are volunteering but would like to participate in something. There are two opportunities to share in the fun. On Friday evening, the Opening Ceremonies, at the HEBB classroom, begin at 6:30 pm, and last for an hour. And on Sunday morning at 10:00 am at the Chan Center the worship service 'Becoming Bolder Every Day' will be an amazing opportunity to sing and laugh and cry with hundreds of Unitarians from across Canada. I hope to see you there.

—Warmly, Rev. Debra Thorne

Bolder Ways of Being

CUC Conference 2016
at UBC May 20–22

Lower Mainland congregations are busy preparing to host the 2016 CUC Conference “Bolder Ways of Being,” which will bring Unitarians from across the country to UBC from May 20–22. After April 30, online registration will be closed. Walk-in registration will be available at the conference for individual days or the entire weekend.

Check out <http://cuc.ca/conference-2016/> to find out about accommodation at the Gage Residence. Billetting with UCV families can also be arranged. While food orders must be confirmed by April 30, a few meal tickets may be available for purchase during the weekend. Most program sessions will be held in the award-winning new Student Union Building, The Nest.

During the opening ceremony Friday night, a visual sampler of life in each congregation will introduce the banners. While that event is open to all from 6:30 to 7:30 pm, only registered participants attend the Confluence Lecture at 7:45. Saturday streams range from cross-border climate justice to congregational networking, with a special session hosted by our Truth, Healing, and Reconciliation Task Force co-chairs Revs. Samaya Oakley and Meg Roberts. After-hours social times on both Friday and Saturday nights promise relaxation and entertainment.

The 10 am Sunday Service at the Chan Centre, open to everyone, will feature the mass conference choir. The service will be followed by a multigenerational lunch and all-ages workshops in the afternoon. Research your options now and consider volunteering to join the local teams helping behind the scenes. Contact Rev. Debra Thorne for more information.

Worship service in the Chan Centre at UBC May 22: Doors to the Chan open at 9:30 and the service begins at 10:00 am. Please allow plenty of time to park in the nearby structure and walk a short distance to the entrance. There is a special accessible drop-off zone. Free admission tickets to the Chan (required for entry) will be available in local churches by the weekend of May 8, from volunteers outside the building on the morning, or in packets for registered participants. Contact your local Host Committee member if you can offer a ride to anyone needing assistance.

Parking Details: The Rose Garden Parkade (6278 NW Marine Drive) has the quickest and easiest access to the Chan Centre. The parkade utilizes the Pay by Phone system (also used by the City of Vancouver metering system). Successful Trivia Night Fundraiser Kick Start Trivia Night was a big fundraising success for the Refugee Sponsorship program. Under the talented leadership of Lisa Girardi and Susan Millar well over $3,000 dollars was raised and a wonderful time was had by all. Please take a moment to thank Susan and Lisa for sharing their extraordinary gifts with the community.

A huge thank you to Susan and Lisa's families who came out to help make the event roll along smoothly, and to those who simply were there to support. Both Susan and Lisa had the inspiration to tap into the generosity of local volunteers and business people outside of the Beacon community, who surprised everyone with their generosity.

Although New Westminster's Mayor Jonathon Cote couldn't make it in person, his donation of a framed lithograph called "Wait For Me Daddy" raised money in the silent auction. We were not lacking for dignitaries at Kick Start either. City Councillor Jaimie McEvoy was there as was Stacy Ashton, Executive-Director for Community Volunteer Services, and Rick Carswell, Past President of the Arts Council of New Westminster.

Federal Minister of Parliament for New Westminster Peter Julian provided a silent auction item of a lunch with him at Wild Rice, hotly bid on by Debra Thorne and Tom Lunderville, who won. Judy Darcy, MLA, provided a wonderful framed photograph of hers.

New Westminster donations came from Key West Ford (48" TV); Re-Up BBQ gave us two $100 gift cards; Boston Pizza ($165); MOVE Yoga Studio; Mr. Mikes (food); three gift baskets from School Trustee Jonina Campbell ($100); Fraser Works Co-op ($195); and Royal City Farmers Market ($140). Thank you all!

I also want to mention that there were many "experiences/talents" that were up for bids on the silent auction tables from our own Beaconites that brought in some serious moola: John Hagen's bird watching raised $175, Renee Spakowsky's landscape designing $105, Teresa Morton's offer to create a picture of one's home brought in a $100. Charlene Dubrule donated 5 ½ hours of music lessons and a coffee gift basket worth $100. Another $400 was raised by donations from Laura Redmond, Carol Woodworth and Katie Sather, Terry McComas, Susan White, Elizabeth Campbell, Marylke Nieuwenhuis, and Debra Thorne. Shane Scott, Rebecca's partner donated plates and glasses, and Deepak Sahasrabudhe looked after all the technology, from sound to the square which allowed us to take in non-cash money. In total there were nearly 50 donors to this event!

The "most tickets sold" honour goes to Susan Millar at 20, while John Hagen and Carol Woodworth each sold 19. It seemed that Carol brought the entire Maple Ridge paddling community with her! It was wonderful to see so many unknown community faces.

This evening of serious fun for a good cause thrust the Beacon congregation out into the wider community in a way that has not been experienced before. Let us continue to act boldly, not for ourselves alone, but for principles of the inherent dignity of every person and the commitment to a world community with peace, justice and liberty for all.

Let's Connect

Wow! We have had a fabulous month of connections due to the Trivia Night extravaganza. Congratulations to everyone who helped make it a very successful and fun event. Many more folks now know about our amazing Beacon community and also about our commitment to the Syrian Refugee Family sponsorship.

We will also have another Circle Dinner on the 30th of April with all of the connections that provides. Hope you are able to attend and have let Donna Hamilton (donna-h@telus.net) know that you are interested.

Have you noticed and welcomed all the visitors who have come to Beacon since January! We have had over two dozen new folk attend our services. Welcome to each of you.

There is another Getting To Know U session this month on Saturday April 30th for any of you interested in getting to know our Beacon community better. You will meet a few of the members including our minister Rev. Debra, learn a little history and enjoy a light lunch. If you haven't already signed up please contact Rev. Debra at minister@beaconunitarian.org.

Congratulations are in order for one of our newest families, Gus and Brianna Leger with 2-year-old Levi. Edmond Daniel (Eddie) was born March 4th, a healthy big baby at 9 lb. 7 oz. Brianna reports it all went well and you can see for yourselves what a beautiful baby he is. We hope to see them all back at church soon. This is Eddie at about 5 weeks old.

Submitted by Joan Morris on behalf of the Connections and Membership committee: Joan Morris, Jean Donaldson, Susan Tarras, Phil Campbell, Joyce Gudaitis, Rev. Debra.

What's going on in Religious Education classes?

In RE there are a lot of changes in store. Amber Strocel is stepping down from her role as Co-Director of Religious Education effective May 1 due to a scheduling conflict with the required coursework for her teaching degree. For the remainder of the church year her role teaching the Children's Community will be filled by Laura Redmond. Laura and Casey will need lots of support in order to nurture our children. If you are able to help please email beaconunitarianRE@gmail.com.

The RE children have discussed what they can do to help our Syrian refugee family as they relocate to Canada. At the suggestion of Deb Henry they decided to join forces with the youth to help organize a toy, book and household item drive and sale. With your support we raised over $240 to buy toys for our Syrian family's youngsters, as well as putting some great books aside to start their library.

This spring we also held an Easter party and Easter egg hunt at the Lunderville residence. A number of families attended. Children and adults enjoyed socializing, and then the children all decorated Easter eggs. We walked to the nearby park to hide and search for the eggs. The weather was great and a good time was had by all.

The next day we had a partial intergenerational service to celebrate the spring equinox. After heading downstairs the children decorated cupcakes to share with the congregation. Here are a few photos from our recent celebrations that you may enjoy.
