

Beacon Unitarian 2027 Giving Guide

People often ask, “How do I know how much to give?”

Here is a two-step process to give a rough idea of how much you might contribute depending on your life circumstances and the role Beacon plays in your life.

The first step is to consider your overall financial health.

Surviving: You just meet your own basic needs.

Striving: Your basic needs are met, but you don't have much left for niceties.

Thriving: You can treat yourself to vacations and/or evenings out; you feel financially secure.

Flourishing: You have more than you need and can share your fortune with the wider community.

The second step is to consider the role Beacon plays in your life.

Connected: Beacon enriches your life through worship services and community gatherings.

Engaged: Beacon is a regular part of your spiritual life and community.

Committed: Beacon fulfils your spiritual or other needs that cannot be met elsewhere.

Deeply Rooted: You can't imagine life without your Beacon community.

Please give as generously as you are able.
